EDITORS' ROOMS
American Book Company
806 AND 808 BROADWAY, NEW YORK CITY

Nov. 14, 1890.

Prof. Sereno Watson,
Cambridge, Mass.

Dear Sir,—

Your favor regarding the changes in chemical plates came duly to hand. As to the corrections being printed on separate sheets for those who have bought the first edition we can easily print a quantity of the extra pages which you have had set up giving additional corrections to follow page 735. For the other corrections we do not see how to well be practicable to do it. Further it is very difficult to reach those who have the book. The large majority have dropped the study and are, as they should, graduated to higher studies. If we could reach the few who preserve their books for future study it would be worth while to do so. We should be glad to have any suggestions you may offer in the matter.

As to charging even a trifle price for corrections of a text book we hardly think it wise to do so.

Yours truly,

AMERICAN BOOK COMPANY,

A. D. Harlower
for Editorial Committee.